Pastel Peaks Production

The only data we collect about our users is via our game play data collection and in-game bug reporting.

The first time you open the app you must consent to or opt out of the game play data collection feature.

If you consent, this is what data we will collect:

- + When you start, end, and fail levels
- + When you open the application
- + When you complete objectives
- + Your character's position in levels

No device, location, or personal data will be collected.

The bug reporting feature is completely optional and also has an optional field to enter your email, if you wish. This will ONLY be used if you wish to be contacted about the bug you reported. We will NEVER sell your email.

We do not collect any other information from our users and no other permissions must be granted by the user.
